

Public Health Professional Services

Your solution to finding short-term, part-time, or temporary skilled public health professional staff

Quick and Simple

Avoid the time-consuming process of recruiting, interviewing, and hiring urgently needed workers. PHPS recruits and manages a pool of available staffers, serves as the liaison between staffers and prospective placement sites, and facilitates contracts and employment logistics.

Cost-Effective

Hiring an independent contractor is often the most efficient solution to short-term staffing needs. PHPS specializes in public health staffing and offers competitive pricing to fit your project budget.

Flexible

Whether you need staff for a few hours, a few days, or a few months, we can help you identify your ideal candidate from our pool of experienced, professionally-trained public health staffers.

"The Association of Public Health Nursing was looking for a "right sized" model for its organizational management. The Ohio Public Health Association shows every ability to scale and assure its services to meet our association's needs, and their attention to detail and focus on quality improvement has made the orientation process go quite smoothly."

- APHN officer

"The experience working with Amy and Jamie was great and the continuing education application service will just continue to get better as more opportunities arise."

- OSU Center for Public Health Practice

"I think the Professional Services Project has the potential to capture vast amounts of knowledge and experience that would have been otherwise lost from public health. I look forward to working with participants in the future."

- Local health commissioner

"We were seeking a public health consultant with environmental health experience to work with us on a specific project, and we weren't sure where we were going to find the right person. OPHA gave us access to a skilled individual that fully met our needs."
